NEWS GATHERED FROM SOUTHSIDE

Committee on Annexation Meets and Discussed Proposed Consolidation.

AWAIT MOVE FROM RICHMOND

Licking Creek Club to Have Hunt To-Day—Other Manchester News.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, No. 132 Hui Street.

At an executive session of the joint committee from the Common Council and the Board of Aldermen, held last night, the subject of annexation was informally discussed. No action whatsoever was taken by the committee. The situation was reviewed and the question was considered in all its phases, the members being anxious to inform themselves thoroughly as to every point in anticipation of the proposition soon to be submitted to them by the Richmond committee. So far as could be gathered the attitude of the committee is that the proposition should be accepted, if it is reasonable and favorable. Manchester, said a member of the committee after the meeting, is not asking to be annexed, but will entertain a proposition if it is satisfactory. The majority of the people are said to be certainly indifferent and probably opposed to the consolidation.

Hunt To-Day.

Arrangements have been completed for the hunt to be held by the Licking Creek Hunt Club to-day. The recent rain will enable the dogs to do some excellent work, and a lively chase is anticipated. Mr. Willard Mar has been chosen as one of the winners. John Baugh will also take part in the hunt.

There will be a special called meeting of the City Mission this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the home of Mrs. A. J. Dafford, Fifteenth and Porter Streets, for the purpose of raising funds to give Thanksgiving dinners to needy residents of Manchester, who have no means of preparing a Thanksgiving dinner. In addition to this matter, the meeting will take up the methods of raising funds for the winter work.

Officers of Church.

Fifth Street Methodist Church has elected the following church and Sunday school officers for the year: G. W. Payne, chairman of stewards; J. W. Childress, assistant; L. A. Bass, secretary; L. B. Pittman, assistant; J. P. Jones, treasurer; G. W. Payne, chorister; J. P. Jones, asstant; Miss Olive Andrews, organist; Miss Emma Bailey, assistant; C. C. Bailey and T. T. Wallace, ushers for the church. The Sunday school officers are J. P. Jones, superintendent; L. B. Pittman, assistant; P. A. Green, secretary; Worthing Childress, assistant; C. E. Walshall, treasurer; Ernest Eastwood, librarian; J. P. Jones, assistant; Miss Emma Bailey, pianist, and Miss Louise Reams, assistant.

The Rev. Dr. E. V. Baldy will give his first illustrated lecture on his travels in Europe next Friday night in Bainbridge Street Baptist Church. These lectures are to be given for the benefit of the organ fund.

The following citizens have been summoned to serve on the jury to-day and Thursday, when the appeals of both Hinchey and the Chelf Chemical Company will be heard before Judge Clontz: J. W. Jones, G. W. Phaup, C. Sneed, P. Tunstall, J. W. Puckett, L. H. Hogan, J. E. Hinton, H. Levy, H. Reid, J. W. Crazo, M. A. Richters, W. L. Porter, R. H. Goodman and L. C. Nunnally.

Souvenirs From Cemetery.

Workmen engaged in removing bodies buried many years ago, from Webster's old cemetery to Mary cemetery, have unearthed a number of relics which they are disposing of to souvenir hunters who visit the place daily. This morning a body was removed to get a deer, with a knife, some musket caps and soldier buttons, evidently from the grave of a Confederate soldier. This man said that all the graves he had seen opened had in them relics also than the dust of the bodies originally buried there, with an occasional bone, piece of coffin, or scrap of heavy cloth.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. James Patterson, of Fayette City, Pa., spent from Saturday to Monday with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Beam, of Oak Grove. They took the evening boat for Norfolk, and will leave for there for their home. Mr. Patterson has been coming to Virginia for a number of years on hunting trips, spending the time at Cabin Point, Va., with the family of Captain Butts. On this trip he was fortunate enough to get a deer, a brace of turkeys, squirrels, ducks and rabbits. He reports game very plentiful around Clarendon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Selfert, of Roanoke, are visiting their son, Ernest Selfert, in Oak Grove. Mr. Selfert is a member of the Richmond Economic Works. He admitted having taken the tools away, and said that he had lost several of his own while at work, and thought it was no harm to take any of equal value of the ones he had lost. He was bailed for his appearance in court this morning, when Spillie Lewis will hear the case.

Fell Into River.

Joseph Adams, a white man, lost his equilibrium last night and tumbled into the river at the footbridge above Mayo's Bridge. He landed against a dock, and his head was injured somewhat. Dr. Pitt, of the ambulance corps, was called and four stitches were made in the scalp. He was afterwards taken to the almshouse and treated.

Skull Fractured.

George Henderson, a white man, is in the City Hospital suffering from a fracture of the skull caused by a blow delivered by a man named Ellyson. Henderson says he was at First and Holly Streets when Ellyson struck him. He was knocked senseless. The ambulance was called and Dr. Pitt took four stitches in Henderson's head and carried him to the City House.

Recreation to Pastor.

The Ladies' Relief and Missionary Society of West View Baptist Church, gave to their new pastor, the Rev. William Lockhart Ball, a reception in the church last evening, which was enjoyed by a large congregation. Refreshments were served. Music was furnished for the occasion by Thibault's band.

Carrier Pigeon.

Mr. Edward W. Scott, of Scottsville, Va., has a carrier pigeon which he is anxious to return to its owner.

The pigeon which is marked "J. M." No. 11-82, dropped exhausted on his farm on Monday morning.

Rev. Mr. Betty Returns.

Rev. L. B. Betty, pastor of Park Place Methodist Episcopal Church, returned to the city yesterday and will conduct the regular services this evening at 8 o'clock.

ANNUAL REPORT BOARD OF HEALTH

Dr. Oppenheimer Recommends That Council Adopt Plan For Public Baths.

WHAT INSPECTOR REPORTS

Criticism of Water Refers Only to Springs and Wells Around City.

Dr. W. T. Oppenheimer is distributing in the city copies of the annual report of the Board of Health. It is a most interesting document.

The report contains statistics not only from Dr. Oppenheimer as president of the Board of Health, but from Mr. W. A. J. Kelley as well, who is milk and food inspector for the city. Extracts from the two reports are as follows:

"Upon any increase in the number of deaths from typhoid fever or diphtheria, a cry is raised for protection against these diseases. In the meantime nothing is said of tuberculosis, that great scourge which causes one-seventh of the deaths of each year.

"It should give us pause that with all the other causes of death in a city of the size of Richmond, tuberculosis in some form claims over 250 of every 1,576 who die."

Referring to the decrease in the city's death rate, the health board president says:

"The records for 1934 show a decrease of 19.7 per cent in the number of deaths from all causes. There were fifty-four fewer deaths from contagious diseases. The past year has been one of marked health for Richmond, there having been less illness than we have had for years. This is largely due to rigid investigations following each complaint, and to a continuous inspection of general conditions.

"The council adopted an ordinance providing for an inspector of food. The wisdom of this measure is already apparent, and will be even more obvious in the decrease in mortality among infants during the summer months."

Public Baths.

Dr. Oppenheimer recommends public baths for Richmond in the following paragraph:

"A laudable desire has been evinced for public baths in Richmond. Such baths have proven successful in other towns for the poor, having no conveniences in their homes, cheerfully pay a few pence for the luxury of a bath. The general health must needs be improved by so potent a sanitary agent, and it is to be earnestly hoped that the council will further the plan."

He calls attention to the improvements at the crematory, saying:

"The crematory has been enlarged one-third more than its original size, and is now adequate to the consumption of all garbage.

"Warm praise is due the sanitary officers and the inspectors of food and plumbing for faithful fulfillment of their respective duties. Their reports follow:

"The health department is better prepared for work than ever before, and it is believed that the good results will speak for themselves."

Statistics.

"The total number of deaths for 1934 was 1,576—white, 833; colored, 1,033—a decrease of 26 white and a decrease of 33 colored from last year or the year 1933," the report says.

"The greatest mortality was in the month of March—215. The next greatest was in July—204. The lowest was in December—114."

"The annual rate of mortality on the whole population was 19.76 per 1,000. The annual rate of the white population was 13.76 per 1,000. The annual rate of the colored population was 27.46 per 1,000. Calculations based on an estimated population of 100,000—white, 62,250, and 37,750 colored."

Dr. Oppenheimer gives the following statistics with reference to contagious diseases:

"Number of cases reported—Scarlet fever reported, 31, with two deaths—an increase in the number reported, 29, and a decrease of one death on last year.

"Diphtheria—78 cases reported, with 14 deaths—a decrease of 50 cases reported, and also a decrease of 35 deaths on last year."

Plumbing Inspector Thomas M. Landrum, in his annual report to Dr. Oppenheimer, says:

"The past year has been a very busy one, owing to the fact of the large increase in the construction of new buildings over that of any previous year, some of them being much larger in magnitude than any hitherto erected in our city; therefore requiring much more of my time and attention in making the necessary tests and inspections in buildings of such character. The strict enforcement of the plumbing ordinance, a large amount of old plumbing, wherever found, was condemned during the past year."

Condition of Water.

The first annual report of the food inspector, W. A. J. Kelly, was made public yesterday.

Inspector Kelly says:

"The conditions as I found them in my first tour of inspection through the city were far from being good, and a daily, continuous inspection followed, with the result that the conditions have changed wonderfully, and the outlook for the new year is encouraging. In fact, the health has improved, the general conditions are favorable, and with a continuance, every citizen of Richmond will derive its benefit."

A tabulated report, showing the work done by Inspector Kelly and Dr. Oppenheimer, is given. The following paragraphs from the chemist's report will be found interesting:

"Since July 13, 1934, I have examined 26 samples of milk, six samples of cream, twelve of water, eighteen of candy; four of sausage; one of elder; one of butter; one of extract of Jamaica; and one of brewery waste."

"Of the samples of milk, sixty-eight were below the standard. During July, eighteen samples of milk were examined, ten of which were below the standard. In December seventeen samples were examined, and only two were below the standard."

"All the samples of water examined were found to be unfit for drinking."

"The samples of brewery waste were examined because it was used as a food for cows. No objection was found to this as a food, if it be used fresh—before any fermentation takes place in it."

"No objection was found to any of the other substances examined."

The criticism of the water refers only to the springs and wells in and around Richmond, and not to the James river water.

Star Party.

Mr. William L. Nelson, of No. 1228 East Broad Street, gave a star party to twelve of his friends last night. It was a most enjoyable affair, and it was not until after 11 o'clock that the guests departed.

DISAPPEARS LEAVING YOUNG WIFE PENNILESS

James Sheets, Driver in Employ of City, Missing From Home.

Leaving his young wife and small child penniless and dependent upon charity for support, James Sheets, a driver in the employ of the city engineer's department, disappeared from Richmond last Thursday, and until this day nothing has been heard of him, whereabouts. His wife lives at No. 512 Orleans Street, Fulton, and is without money or means for a livelihood. With her mother she has applied to Mr. Davis, superintendent of the City Almshouse, for support, and has received food and fuel from this source.

James Sheets drew his salary—$27.75—last Thursday, and has not been seen since. He owed $14 rent and was to have paid this out of the salary that he drew. He did not return, and a search of the house developed the fact that he had taken away practically all of his clothing.

His wife—she is only twenty years of age—was distracted with grief. Leaving her fifteen-months-old child in the care of her mother, Mrs. Emery, she went to work at the Cedar Works, and with the assistance given her by Mr. Davis has managed thus far to keep the wolf from the door.

Home Wedding.

The parlors of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Andrews, No. 318 South Cherry Street, presented a beautiful scene last night, when their daughter, Miss Margaret C. Andrews, became the bride of Mr. Calvin Farmer, the Rev. J. Calvin Stewart, D. D., pastor of the Church of the Covenant, performed the ceremony.

Miss Fannie Reed, sister-in-law of the bride, presided at the piano, and played the wedding marches.

Messrs. William Casale and William Farmer acted as ushers, and Messrs. Theuma Farmer, niece of the bridegroom, was the ring-bearer.

The bride was crowned in a beautiful traveling suit of blue, with hat and gloves to match, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

After the ceremony, the couple left on the Northern train, and will spend some time in Washington, New York, Baltimore and other points. They will return home about December 1st, and will reside at the home of the bride's parents, No. 510 South Cherry Street.

Miss Andrews is a granddaughter of the late John G. Andrews, of this city, and Mr. James Patterson, of Fayette City, Pa., who was in the West End and has for a long time been the chief secretary-treasurer of the Owl Sporting Club. Many handsome presents were received by the couple.

Thanks of Guild.

The ladies of the Richmond branch of the Needle Work Guild desire to express their sincere thanks to the officers of the Virginia State Insurance Company for their courtesy in placing their rooms at the disposal of the guild on the occasion of its recent exhibition of needle work.

The ladies also wish to thank Mr. Cosby, of the Cosby Transfer Company, for his kindness in delivering the various packages.

Hand Mashed.

While at work at the American Tobacco Company yesterday morning, Mr. Charles W. Eaton had his right hand caught in a machine and sustained a very serious injury. He was repairing the machine when a follow-workman started the mill about 8:30 a. m. Eaton was across Mr. Eaton's hand, mashing it very badly. He was taken to his home, where he is being treated by Dr. R. W. Miller.

Residence Destroyed.

Fire destroyed the handsome residence of Mr. Ed. Lehmann, on the Williamsburg road, last night. The fire was caused by a gas leak, and the damage was estimated at $25,000. The building was a two-story frame structure, and was in time to form a bucket brigade to save the surrounding houses from being awakened the sleeping members of the family.

WIGOROUS REPLY TO COMMITTEE

Management of City Hospital and Resident Physicians Issue Statements.

WILL EXPLAIN ABOUT CLINICS

Mr. Gunst Says Matter Will Be Taken Up At Next Meeting Again.

The action last night of the Committee on the Relief of the Poor in instructing the officers of the City Hospital that no clinics should be held there in future has aroused much comment, and the management of the hospital, including the house physicians, yesterday issued statements explaining the situation and replying to the attack made by Mr. Hobson, a member of the committee.

Mr. Marx Gunst, chairman of the committee, was seen last night and asked if he had anything to say about the action of his committee. Mr. Gunst replied:

"I did not know anything about the matter until it was sprung upon the committee last night. To-day I have talked with the house physicians and with people who are familiar with the situation. I learned that the clinics were always held with the consent of the patients, and that none were held on the female side of the hospital. Personally, I cannot see what objection there can be to clinics under these conditions, and there is no question in my mind that the matter will be taken up and thoroughly discussed at the next meeting of the committee."

Statement of Officials.

Dr. John G. Trevilian, surgeon in charge of the City Hospital, and Mr. George B. Davis, superintendent of the hospital, yesterday prepared the following statement, which they issued over their own signatures:

"In this morning's paper your article in reference to clinics at City Home Hospital was misleading, and calculated to reflect on the management. The facts are these: Ever since this institution has been in existence the colleges (medical) have had access for clinical purposes, though guarded by restrictions, and tender solicitude for the feelings of the patients. In no case has coercion been resorted to, and in many instances the patient has been recompensed by the faculty."

"Their full consent has always been obtained before being used as a clinic. As far as we know, there has never been any indignity offered a patient, nor would such a thing be allowed, as one of the resident physicians always attended the clinics with the visiting doctors."

Statement of Physicians.

The statement of the resident physicians, Drs. C. S. Pitt, Walter Witten and G. F. Turman, is as follows:

Referring to the publication in the morning's paper in regard to alleged indignities to the indigent sick at the City Hospital, the undersigned resident physicians at the hospital beg leave to state the facts, for the information of the public. On Tuesday and Wednesday of each week members of the faculty of one of the medical colleges ask permission of one of the resident physicians at the City Hospital to bring out what is known as a "clinic section" of four young men of the graduating class to study any instructive case or cases that may be in the hospital at the time. The permission is usually granted, but not without full consent of the patient or patients, and only about fifteen minutes are spent in the study of each case. We found this custom a long time ago, and entered the hospital, and learn that it has existed for many years. We can, of course, speak only for the period during which we have had charge of the matter. Concerning that period, we wish to say with emphasis that the statement that "indignity and humiliation are visited upon the poor, but respectable, inmates" of the City Home is without foundation, and must be based upon absolute ignorance of the facts. The sick in this hospital receive from the physician in charge and from the resident physicians as well as tender, faithful and delicate consideration and care as if they were people of independent fortune. We make no plea for the continuation of this custom of long standing, but our manhood protests against any suggestion or intimation that we or any one of us could be guilty of any lack of patient, careful and considerate treatment of the helpless ones committed to our care.

The Four Mortons.

Social satire characterized in a melodious comedy entitled "Breaking Into Society," with the Four Mortons in the leading roles, is the excellent attraction offered this week at the Bijou Theatre. Mr. Percy G. Williams, one of the most successful of New York managers. There is a supporting company of fifty talented people, including a chorus of twenty-five young women, who sing, dance and wear magnificent costumes most pleasingly. The comedy is the work of Leo Aratun and Robert B. Smith, with musical numbers and songs by Gus Edwards. The scenery and stage settings are all new and elaborate and the costumes lavish.

DeKoven's Opera.

"Robin Hood," the famous comic opera, by Reginald De Koven and Harry B. Smith, which, under the direction of the Aborn Production Company, comes to the Academy for a Saturday, matinee and night, has for the past decade stood the test of time. It was always the main pillar in the extensive repertoire of the Bostonians, and when that organization disbanded recently, the absolute stage rights were secured by the Messrs. Aborn, who are the principal members of The Bostonians have been engaged and will be seen here.

X-Ray Treatment.

The Retreat for the Sick has been furnished with the X-Ray treatment, through the untiring efforts of Mrs. Barton Capen, of the auxiliary board of ladies of the hospital. Dr. Mark W. Peyer will have charge of the apparatus and the most improved and up-to-date machine has been purchased. From four to seven o'clock on Thursday the public will have an opportunity to inspect the department wherein the X-Ray is used.
